Coming: New Auto
Periscope Rear
View Mirror

The idea isn't new—I've discussed it with mechanics and auto dealers for several years—but now a Roseville, Mich., firm is going to put in on the market. It's a $100 item.

The idea: A periscope-type rear view mirror telescoping through the ceiling of a car to give the driver a clear, wide angle view of what's behind him.

Anyone who trailers a boat knows the difficulty posed by small mirrors when you have to back up, as when backing down a ramp to launch. The conventional central rear mirror is no good because even an open runabout looms so high on the trailer that your vision is blocked.

Rear-view mirrors on both sides of the car are helpful—but there is still a blind spot in dead center where the high nose of the boat interferes.

Anyone watching a submarine movie recognized long ago that the wide-angle periscope has an application to automobiles also. Cars have blind spots in traffic even when you aren't trailering a boat.

One such blind spot occurs when someone on a multi-lane road attempts to pass you on the right. There is a critical moment when you can't see the other car—for while your windshield is big the rear window of your car is relatively small, and the broad corner of the body blocks vision.

Clipper Industries, Inc., who expect to market the periscope rear-view mirror the middle of this year, say it will prevent many accidents. If built correctly I think this is true.

Mission Control Corrects Problem Aboard Apollo 16

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronaut Thomas K. Mattingly II, with help from Mission Control, quickly overcame a guidance system problem that temporarily locked the Apollo 16 command ship in one position today. The space shuttle hurtled on, meanwhile toward a Wednesday rendezvous with the moon.

Officials said the source of the problem was a mystery. They were not certain whether it would recur and experts studied data to learn the exact cause.

As Mattingly was taking star sightings on the planet Jupiter to align the spaceship, a red warning light flashed in the cabin.

Something had happened to the guidance and navigation system, preventing the space-ship from moving left or right.

"I don't know what happened," Mattingly, the command module pilot, radioed. "I was down looking at the optics and all of a sudden I just saw a warning light and I got no attitude (position) and a gimbal lock light ... It looks like the platform might be frozen."

He referred to the inertial guidance system platform.

There was no danger to the astronauts. The command ship has a backup guidance system that would get them home if the primary system failed. If there were a primary failure, the moon landing would be canceled.

Mission Control evaluated the trouble and sent a series of commands which Mattingly fed into the computer while John W. Young and Charles M. Duke Jr. monitored systems. The action realigned the platform and Mattingly verified it was okay by taking a series of optical sightings on the earth, moon, sun and several stars.

The alert light flashed about 3:30 a.m., EST, when Apollo 16 was about 158,000 miles from earth and about 82,000 miles from the moon. Forty-five minutes later, Mission Control told the astronauts: "It looks okay down here. Looks like you can go to bed and get eight hours sleep."

Just hours earlier, Young and Duke transferred through a tunnel to the lunar lander Orion and after a two-hour inspection rated it in "super" shape even though apparently defective paint was flaking off the landing craft like dried skin.

They declared it was ready to transport them to a landing in the moon's mountains on Thursday.

Board Is Considering Price Controls on Food Products

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pledging price rollbacks and refunds to consumers, the government's chief price setter told Congress today as many as 10 per cent of the nation's biggest firms may be making illegal excess profits.

Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson said also price controls could be extended to food as a last and unpleasant resort if rising food prices threaten the Nixon administration's anti-inflation fight.

In testimony before the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, Grayson found his general optimism to be at odds with views of Chairman Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., on nearly every major issue.

Grayson said economic indicators show improvement, reported high public confidence in the wage-price program and asserted the program is right on the target of reducing inflation to three per cent or less by year's end.

Proxmire said all important indicators such as unemployment are discouraging if not dismal, that public confidence has been destroyed, and that the price program "cannot continue as it has been without becoming a total farce."

Grayson cited possible extension of controls to food and the tightening of existing food-price controls in a list of several policy changes he said are under current analysis and evaluation.

Grayson's comments came a day after he said current controls are beginning to bite into price increases. He said in an interview Monday that a decision on tighter controls might not be made for months, if ever, and that he was willing to cast his vote in favor of stricter profit-margin controls if inflation figures showed they were needed.

In his prepared testimony, Grayson said the wage-price controls are slowly reducing inflation toward the target level of 2 to 3 per cent by the end of this year "without impeding the recovery of our ailing national economy to prosperity and full employment."

Texas Appeal May Hold Key to School Finances

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An appeal by the State of Texas may set the stage for a Supreme Court ruling that changes the way 49 states finance their public schools.

Eventually, the San Antonio case may rival in importance the 1954 Brown v. Board of Education case that led to the desegregation of schools in Southern and border states.

Texas filed its appeal late Monday. It is one of five states to be told by a court that its school-financing system is illegal. The others are California, Minnesota, Wyoming and New Jersey.

Though the California decision came first, the Texas case is the first to reach the Supreme Court's doorstep. If the justices agree to hear it, the result would be a ruling in about a year having a major impact on the quality of education and on where Americans locate their homes and businesses.

In every state except Hawaii, public-school financing is based to a large degree on the local property tax. Though the states and the federal government provide supplementary money, the kind of education a child receives is directly related to the tax revenue from property in his district.

In the Texas case, known as Rodriguez v. San Antonio Independent School District, a special panel of three federal judges declared last December that the system violates the 14th Amendment's guarantee of equal protection of the laws.

That is, said the three judges, Texas' financing system makes educational expenditures a function of local wealth, discriminating against children in poorer communities.

Crawford C. Martin, the attorney general of Texas, set forth a five-point argument for reversal. He said the judges had limited the freedom of states to govern themselves. Although a different financing system would improve education in poorer districts, Martin argued, it would cause education in other districts to suffer.

The Texas official noted that the public school system already is under heavy pressure from those who resist desegregation. Now, he said, children in wealthier families would be likely to flee to private schools. In Texas, about 40 per cent of school revenues come from local property taxes. The average for all the states is 55 per cent.

The case began with a suit filed on July 30, 1968, by 15 parents and children in the Edgewood district in San Antonio, a Mexican-American community that is one of the poorest in the city.

The judges found that in one year Edgewood property was producing $21 a pupil while Alamo Heights, another district with lower property taxes, was raising $307 a pupil. "Any mild equalizing effects that state aid may have do not benefit the poorest districts," they said.

The judges said Texas could adopt whatever other system it chooses so long as the quality of public education is not dependent on wealth.

Loyalty Oath Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, the Supreme Court today upheld a loyalty oath in Massachusetts that requires all public employees to pledge they will oppose the overthrow of the government by force or violence.

State employees must take the oath or face discharge from their jobs.

Delivering the 4-3 decision, Burger said the oath does not violate First Amendment freedoms since it is no more than a commitment not to use illegal force to change the system.

The three dissenters, Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., and Thurgood Marshall, protested that the oath flatly violates the free-speech guarantees.

But Burger was able to swing a majority by persuading Justices Potter Stewart and Byron R. White, to join him and Justice Harry A. Blackmun. The two later Nixon administration appointees, William H. Rehnquist and Lewis F. Powell Jr., could not participate because they joined the court two months after the case was argued.

Two years ago a U.S. District Court in Massachusetts found the oath invalid. Chief Judge Bailey Aldrich of the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston said the phrase in which the oath-taker swears or affirms that he will not "oppose or overthrow" the government was "fatally vague and unprecise."

But Burger said Aldrich's opinion had taken "a highly literalistic approach" and he recalled that the late Justice John M. Harlan had said, "Almost any word or phrase may be rendered vague and ambiguous by dissection with a semantic scalpel."

Three Minor Accidents Here

City Police report a minor wreck at 4:55 p.m. Monday at 314 Ave. D. A vehicle driven by Frances E. Reese backed out of a driveway and hit a parked car owned by Zelma Agee. Damage to the two vehicles was minor. City officer Haltom investigated the accident.

City patrolman Sinyard investigated a wreck at 300 E. Greenwall at 4:20 p.m. Monday. Cars driven by Kenneth Koen and R.C. Cook collided. Damage was slight.

City officer McCulley answered a call at 12:05 p.m. at E. Elm and Ave D. A car driven by Paul Bain collided with a car driven by Robert Johnson causing minor damages. No injuries were reported.

Jury Picked in Arkadelphia Case

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — A jury of eight men and four women, all white, was seated in circuit court here Monday for the trial of two Negro Arkadelphia college students charged with inciting to riot.

Charged are Alvin H. Pearson, 22, of Wynne, and I. V. Chapman, about 40, of Arkadelphia, both students at Henderson State College.

They are charged in connection with the March 16 racial disturbance outside the Clark County Jail here.

The disturbance occurred when about 200 blacks gathered at the jail to protest the arrest of several black high school students.

Before qualification of a jury began, attorneys for both defendants presented motions for a continuance and change of venue, but the motions were denied by Judge John W. Goodson of Texarkana.

A third black, Gyronne Buckley, a high school pupil, also is charged with inciting to riot in connection with the disturbance. He is expected to go on trial Wednesday.

The charge is a felony punishable by a jail term of three to five years or a fine of from $100 to $500 or both.

Laird Denies Attacks Suspended by Nixon

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon has suspended U.S. air attacks on the Hanoi-Haiphong area to see if North Vietnam backs off from its general offensive in South Vietnam, U.S. military sources reported today.

The thrust of the American air war returned to the South, and U.S. pilots flew more than 1,000 strikes there Monday and today.

Following Sunday's heavy raids on targets around Hanoi and Haiphong, Nixon ordered all air action suspended above the 20th parallel of latitude, 60 miles south of Hanoi, the Saigon sources said.

However, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today in Washington there is "no substance" to the report of attacks being suspended north of

Counterfeit Money Seized

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Secret Service agents seized $500,000 in counterfeit money, as well as plates said to have been used in its manufacture, during a raid at Memphis International Airport Monday, agents said today.

The development came one day after federal agents—some of them wearing numbered baseball caps and carrying pistols—seized the money in a surprise raid in the crowded airport lobby.

A spokesman for the secret Service said Monday that counterfeit money was found in a small parcel and a red suitcase, which agents were seen carrying from the airport, and that a gun was involved.

the 20th parallel. He said air strikes were continuing in North Vietnam, but did not specify how deep the raids were.

The Saigon informants said only a handful of strikes were flown Monday and today north of the demilitarized zone and all of these were below the 19th parallel, 120 miles south of Hanoi.

"The President is deliberately holding off after Sunday's strikes in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas to see what North Vietnam is going to do," said one source. "But further bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong has not been ruled out. It depends

Russia Supplying Arms

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it will continue to supply "necessary assistance and support" to North Vietnam despite an American declaration that nations furnishing weapons to Hanoi must share the responsibility for retaliatory U.S. air raids.

The Soviet position, reported in the defense ministry newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda, or Red Star, warned that Washington's "latest crimes and gambles cannot but lead to a still further complication of the situation ..."

The American statement, relayed Monday night by U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam to Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Kovalev, was in response to a Kremlin protest claiming four Soviet merchant vessels were damaged in Sunday's bombing attacks on Haiphong. The protest charged the U.S. government with "full responsibility for these provocative actions of the U.S. armed forces" and spoke of "the possible dangerous consequences of such actions."

The nation's leading newspapers prominently displayed the Soviet protest today but did not reveal that the United States had responded.

Neither the Soviet protest nor the government-controlled news media made any reference to president Nixon's scheduled summit meeting here next month. But American diplomats conceded the atmosphere has been affected by the Haiphong-Hanoi raids.

The diplomats said it was impossible to accurately gauge the Kremlin attitude to the presidential visit at this point.

Panel Votes to Halt War Funds

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today it would be the "height of irresponsibility" to negotiate for peace with the North Vietnamese while their invasion in South Vietnam is under way.

Laird accused the North Vietnamese of "massive flagrant violation" of a 1968 understanding in their penetration of the demilitarized zone.

"We can't negotiate with an enemy that refuses to abide by its accords, understandings and treaties," Laird said.

"If the enemy withdraws its forces invading across the demilitarized zone, if those forces are removed north of the demilitarized zone, then there would be a viable opportunity for negotiation. To talk of further treaties and understandings under present conditions is the height of irresponsibility."

Laird appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee after it voted Monday to stop all funds for U.S. combat activities in Indochina be halted Dec. 31 if Hanoi releases U.S. prisoners of war.

The committee is considering the foreign aid bill.

Laird said President Nixon's Vietnamization policy has shown progress. He said the South Vietnamese armed forces are performing well and cited reductions in U.S. military troops and air and naval activities in Vietnam since 1968.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said it appeared to him that the Nixon administration now insists upon a military victory, with "no hope of negotiating with North Vietnamese until their military capacity is destroyed."

"That is not the case," Laird responded. At this time, he said, American air forces are striking in the demilitarized zone, below the demilitarized zone and north of the demilitarized zone and also in Cambodia and Laos. He said the B52 force is there for tactical commanders to use as they deem necessary.

Laird said naval ship augmentation in Southeast Asia will continue as "an insurance reserve."

Laird, prior to his appearance before Fulbright's committee, appeared before a

"There are only two announcements about what we are going to do," Rogers said. "We are not going to reintroduce American ground-combat troops and we are not going to introduce nuclear weapons into North or South Vietnam," Rogers said.

Arkansas Receives Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grants totaling $458,800 have been approved by the office of Economic Opportunity for use by Arkansas institutions of higher education to help disadvantaged students prepared for college work.

The office of Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., said the grants included $133,000 for Philander Smith College at Little Rock; $90,600 for Arkansas College at Batesville; $83,700 for the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville; $80,000 for Southern State College at Magnolia, and $71,500 for Ouachita Baptist University at Arkadelphia.

The OEO also awarded two additional grants for disadvantaged students under the "Upward Bound" program. The University of Arkansas will receive $67,000 and Southern State $57,000.

Vietnam Hasn't Yet Washed Out Visit

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

What has been happening lately in Vietnam could have been enough to wash out President Nixon's visit to Moscow. It hasn't—yet.

The Kremlin and the Nixon Administration alike have good reasons for wanting the Moscow summit to take place as scheduled.

But in each capital there must be a point where prospective benefits from such a meeting become too costly. That point is close now. It wouldn't take much to bring about collapse of plans for the Moscow visit.

The Russians, probably to their dismay, find themselves now on the receiving end of the same kind of finger-pointing they directed at the Chinese Communists when President Nixon was headed for Peking in mid-February.

Moscow had done its best to make Peking uncomfortable. Among other things it eagerly sponsored a big rally in France under the name of World Assembly for Peace and Independence of the Indo-Chinese Peoples as Nixon was about to meet with the Chinese leaders. The object was painfully obvious. The U.S. ambassador to the Paris Vietnam talks canceled the session that week in protest against what he called "a horde of Communist-controlled agitators."

The Chinese leaders declined to be embarrassed. Meanwhile, an expected offensive of the North Vietnamese timed to the Peking summit failed to materialize. The buildup had been detectable enough. Why did the North Vietnamese hold off? Was it more important for Hanoi to hoard those forces for a more important time? Did Hanoi perhaps feel that the Moscow summit had much more meaning for North Vietnam's future?

Whatever the reason, Hanoi chose to wait. Now, according to U.S. military men, it has enough wherewithal to keep the current offensive going for a couple of months, or long enough to embarrass the Kremlin around May 22, the scheduled opening date of the Nixon summit.

Thus, whether by design or otherwise, Hanoi has made it hot for Moscow. If the summit should take place on schedule, it would lay Moscow open to what, from the Communist viewpoint, would be more serious accusations than those leveled at Peking in February. Moscow would be host to Nixon at a time when the "fraternal" Communist regime in Hanoi was under an attack from the Americans much more direct and heavy than anything that took place in February. After all, the Americans have resumed bombing in the areas of Hanoi and Haiphong and, by Russian account, Soviet ships in Haiphong Harbor have been hit.

The Russians have been advertising their "realistic, businesslike approach" to the Nixon summit. Would that approach be so realistic that the Russians would choose to ignore the propaganda setback inherent in such a summit at such time?

That depends upon what Moscow hopes to get out of it and whether those gains outweigh prospective losses. Moscow wants a lot of things: increased trade with the United States, eased tensions in Europe to permit greater attention to problems in Asia and elsewhere, access to Western technology and possibly some sort of agreement on limiting expensive strategic arms. Moscow seems to want to invest more in its troublesome domestic economy.

At what point, too, would the U.S. side feel the circumstances no longer permitted a presidential trip to Moscow?

For the Nixon administration there is a good deal of importance in the public relations clout of such a journey in an election year, to say nothing of the major importance to the United States and the world of a possible accord on limiting weapons of mass destruction.

But such a summit could hardly be held, for example, if North Vietnam's offensive produced something that would seem to the world clearly a major military victory for Hanoi. The victory would be attributable of course, to Soviet military hardware.

What is going on now, evidently, is a progressive tightening of tension in Soviet-American relations and nobody can say just when or where the snapping point might be.

Stormy Weather in Some Areas of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stormy weather in the northwestern quarter of the nation contrasted sharply today with unusually pleasant conditions over the rest of the country.

Patches of rain or snow, often accompanied by thunderstorms, were scattered from the Northern Plains to the central Pacific Coast, along with chilly temperatures.

Stockmen's warnings were out for portions of South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado and the Nebraska Panhandle because of cold rain and snow.

An inch of snow fell at Dillon, Mont., and Ely, Nev., during the night.

Clear skies and balmy temperatures prevailed elsewhere. Daytime readings Monday reached the upper 70s as far north as central Minnesota.

The only precipitation reported east of the Mississippi was scattered light snow and rain

Pooch Dies Waiting on Supreme Court

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Smokey, a pooch with a bite worse than his bark, died Monday of old age still waiting for his day in the Supreme Court.

The 11-year-old Weimaraner's legal troubles started back in 1969 when he nipped a Hillsborough County garage employee on the chin.

The worker, Henry Wiggins, filed a complaint with the County Commission, which has the authority to decree that vicious animals be executed. Wiggins maintained he had to undergo medical treatment and developed a rash and an itch.

Contending the bite was nothing more than an aggressive but playful show of affection, the dog's owner, Jim Fair, went before the commission on behalf of his pet.

"He never attacked anything unless he was protecting me, my home or his girl friend," Fair protested.

Prosecutor A. G. Spicola

claimed the pooch was allowed to roam free without a leash or muzzle, thus violating quarantine laws, and had bitten eight other persons within two years.

Smokey went on trial for his life before the commission and won, then sued when he was ordered put on probation for life. Meanwhile, Wiggins filed for damages in Circuit Court and was awarded $7,000. That judgment was upheld on appeal and Fair has taken it to the U.S. Supreme Court, where it is still pending.

In a brief ceremony eulogizing the gray short-haired dog, Fair marked his dirt grave with a empty shotgun shell in remembrance of their hunting days together.

"He was my sole companion for 10 years," Fair said. "We went through a lot together. Smokey's not still around, but his case is."

Weak Cold Front Hits

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A weak cold front was creeping closer to Arkansas today threatening to end the beautiful spring weather enjoyed for the past two days.

The National Weather Service said a high pressure center that kept skies clear over most of the state Sunday and Monday has moved eastward and is now positioned over West Virginia. Warm moist air is being pumped into the state and skies were expected to become increasingly cloudy late today and tonight.

A cold front that extended early today southwestward from a low over the Great Lakes into another low in northern Kansas was expected to be near the northwest corner of the state by Wednesday morning.

As the front passes through the state, skies were expected to become mostly overcast and the Weather Service said there would be a chance of showers and thundershowers beginning late today.

Temperatures were expected to be about five degrees warmer today. Highs Monday ranged from 74 at Jonesboro to 80 at Texarkana and Fort Smith. Overnight lows included 54 at Fayetteville, 56 at Harrison, 48 at Jonesboro, 59 at Texarkana, 44 at El Dorado, 49 at Memphis, 43 at Little Rock, and 49 at Fort Smith.

No precipitation was reported during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today.

'Irreparable Harm', Muskie Declares

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie has accused President Nixon of doing the nation "irreparable harm" and undermining America's sense of decency with the renewed bombing of North Vietnam.

"That is the reason above all that I want to see him defeated," the senator from Maine said Monday night, pressing the war issue as he raised money to propel his troubled campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Muskie, who has said he had difficulty dramatizing his concern with key issues earlier in the campaign, hammered at the bombing renewal for the third day in a row, this time in an emotional address to a fund-raising dinner.

"You know, this President hasn't even undertaken to tell our people why he has done what he has done," Muskie said. "He has escalated the war in Vietnam beyond any dimensions that we have known. He has taken on risks not only for our military forces in Vietnam but for us beyond any that have been taken in this war me is something deep in our consciences which the President has undermined, the sense of decency in our country," Muskie said.

The setting was incongruous: a hotel ballroom, some 1,300 Muskie supporters dining on chicken at $125 a plate, dancing before and after the speeches. A Maine comedian named Jud Strunk provided the entertainment.

Muskie said Nixon has revived "the discarded policy" former President Lyndon B. Johnson found fruitless four years ago.

Since the bombing of Haiphong began Saturday, Muskie has introduced a Senate resolution calling for an immediate end to all U.S. military action against North Vietnam. And he promised that if elected, "within two months of my inauguration, I will withdraw all of our forces from Indochina," with release of prisoners as the only condition.

The immediate and sustained response on the bombing question is in marked contrast to Muskie's slower and far more cautious handling of issues that arose earlier in his presidential quest.

Democrats Claim Report in ITT Case Was Misused

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats on the Senate Judiciary Committee say the Justice Department misused a consultant's report which administration officials have testified was a key factor in settlement of an antitrust suit against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

"His report was used to prove something he didn't try to prove," Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said Monday of Richard J. Ramsden. Ramsden is the consultant hired last May by White House aide Peter J. Flanigan to make the financial analysis for the Justice Department.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., said he believes the settlement was reached before Ramsden was hired and that his report was intended as "a statement of approval."

Ramsden testified that Flanigan, White House liaison with the business community, asked him to do a financial analysis on consequences of ITT's divesting the Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

"I was not, in any sense, asked to make any recommendations regarding an antitrust settlement nor was the subject of settlement even raised," said Ramsden, an employee at the time of Dillon, Read & Co., Inc., Flanigan's former investment banking firm.

"Mr. Flanigan made no attempt, whatsoever, to influence my views concerning the matter I was asked to analyze."

Ramsden, a former White House Fellow and now a partner in the Wall Street firm of Brokaw, Schaenen, Clancy & Co., said, however, that the only data supplied by Flanigan was a memorandum on the economic consequences of the $2-billion Hartford divestiture done by Felix Rohatyn, an ITT director. Rohatyn said the impact would be devastating to ITT and the economy.

Ramsden said the Rohatyn report was not identified as having been done by an ITT official and he put little stock in the document although his conclusions were pretty much the same.

Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst and U.S. District Court Judge Richard McLaren, then head of the Justice Department's antitrust division, testified at the opening of the hearings they relied heavily on the Ramsden report in deciding to settle rather than pursue the cases to the Supreme Court.

Kleindienst asked the Senate Judiciary Committee to reopen hearings on his nomination to be attorney general after columnist Jack Anderson published a memo linking the settlement with ITT's financial commitment to San Diego to help it obtain next summer's Republican National Convention.

In testimony beginning March 2, Kleindienst and McLaren told the committee ITT made an economic presentation to antitrust division officials in which the conglomerate said divestiture would be detrimental to the nation's balance of payments, would bring devastating financial consequences to ITT stockholders, and would hurt the stock market and the economy.

Ramsden, who said he wrote his report in less than five days, told the committee he prepared only a financial analysis of the effect divestiture would have on stockholders.

Hijacker Captured

By PENNIE SUE THURMAN
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A hijacker who demanded half a million dollars and a flight to the Bahamas after commandeering a jetliner over Florida displayed no outward characteristics to tip off officials that he might be a threat, according to Delta Air Lines.

"We would have to psychoanalyze someone to know why they might make a threat like he made," said Gene Stewart, Delta's chief security officer, from the airline's Atlanta, Ga., office.

"The airlines are following religiously the requirements that the U.S. government has laid down or what they called the preboard screening of passengers," Stewart added.

A man identified by the FBI as William H. Greene III, 30, of Berea, Ohio, was captured without incident Monday less than an hour after the Convair 440 landed at a remote section of O'Hare International Airport.

Greene was scheduled to appear before a U.S. magistrate today. The FBI said Greene would be charged with air piracy, which could carry the death sentence upon conviction.

The plane, Flight 952, was carrying 91 persons. It was en route from Miami to Chicago with only one scheduled stop, in Palm Beach, Fla.

Greene was described by the FBI as a "drifter" who recently worked as a film editor in Universal City, Calif.

Pilot Carl Leming, 49, of Atlanta, said he learned of the extortion-hijack attempt about a third of the way to Chicago when a stewardess gave him a note written by the hijacker.

Leming said the note demanded that the plane fly to Chicago, that $500,000 be made available there and that the plane then take off for Nassau.

The FBI said no gun was found although the hijacker indicated in his note that he carried a weapon.

$1 Million Suit Filed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A former Cummins Prison Farm inmate filed a $1 million suit in U.S. District Court here Monday alleging that he almost had his head cut off because of the neglect of state officials.

James W. Moore, the ex-inmate, named ex-Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, former Correction Commissioner Robert Sarver, former Cummins Supt. Victor Urban and former Cummins Asst. Supt. J. R. Price as defendants.

In the suit, Moore said that on Jan. 3, 1969 his throat had been cut while he was asleep by another inmate, Randy Arnold, 21, "leaving only his head and jugular veins remaining by a shred."

The suit said the defendants had been warned by a judge and a prosecuting attorney that Arnold was dangerous but they persisted in placing Arnold in a barracks with other inmates where "he was permitted to roam at will."

The suit said Arnold received a seven-year sentence on May 23, 1969 for stabbing Moore.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "In search of the Lost World," was broadcast on ABC Monday night, one of its "monogram" series of specials. It was a handsome and thoroughly tantalizing hour.

The program tackled the research, archeological investigations and speculation about the origins of early civilizations and peoples who have left traces of their mode of life in North, Central and South America.

It was a lot of subject for a short time period, but since there are more questions than answers available, it was primarily a stimulating and eye-filling hour.

What can be seen is impressive—vast ruins of beautiful stone work spread through Central and South America. There are lofty pyramids, vaulted temples and great walls, all made by man without help from metal tools, horses or oxen.

In North America are the thousands of earthen mounds—the largest one was built basket by basket over 300 years—which appear to have been religious monuments and burial places of Indians.

The experts are digging and studying, but the mysteries of these civilizations that go back to the centuries before Christ have resisted solution.

The cameras lingered on the ruins of cities and temples, most of them in jungles and often set against the background of high mountains—all the photography was great.

This is one of five "black weeks" of the television year, a seven-day period when the audience research firm of A. C. Nielsen skips the nightly nose-count of viewers' choices.

Christmas Seal Figures Announced

Mrs. Dee McMurrough, Christmas Seal Chairman for Hempstead County, announces the final figures for the 1971 Christmas Seal Campaign. Total contributions for the entire State were $265,476.85. Over and above the Christmas Seal contributions, $903.75 was received as Memorial Gifts, compared to $215.00 in 1970.

Mrs. McMurrough said, "Hempstead countians contributed $2,133.65 which was an increase of $68.90 from the 1970 total."

She said further, "The five point program of the Arkansas Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association are: Eradication of Tuberculosis, Control of Respiratory Diseases, Elimination of Cigarette Smoking, Air Conservation and Improvement of Community Health and Welfare. Christmas Seal contributions will support this entire program along with study grants and scholarships."

Mrs. McMurrough expressed the appreciation of the Arkansas Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association and the Hempstead County TB and RD Committee for the efforts of all who supported the 1971 Christmas Seal Campaign.

The Generation Rap

Help Is as Near as the Phone

DEAR RAP:

I am a 17-year-old boy who is mature and just like other guys except for one thing: I am homosexual. I like girls as friends. I go on dates with them and we get along great, so maybe I'm even bi-sexual.

I hate myself for these queer feelings. I know I'm sick in the head and sometimes I think suicide is the only way out. If my friends ever knew or even suspected, I'd kill myself for sure.

Is there any way I can get help without embarrassment?—SCARED

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:
I am almost 15, and just know I'm going to be a lesbian. I like girls better than boys, and even had a crush on one of my woman teachers. I can't stand the way I feel. So I avoid girls now, too, because I'm scared they'll find out I'm—NOT NORMAL.

Dear all of you who worry about homosexual tendencies or inclinations (and so many Teenagers do!):

Help is as near as your telephone. Most cities these days have "crisis lines," "youth life lines," "teen hot lines" where young people may call in anonymously and talk out their problems. If more expert or in-depth counseling is indicated, they are referred to professionals.

Your County Mental Health Association will also refer you to close-in help. The number is listed in the phone book, and if you can't find it, ask your operator.

Often what teenagers believe to be homosexual feelings are only the natural attractions and curiosities of adolescence. Older teens sometimes fear they are "doomed for life" because of one or two unhappy experiences. Needed here is reassurance, and a therapist can provide it in a single session.

But when there is a deep-rooted problem, then psychiatry is the answer for, before a patient can help himself, he must stop hating himself.

"Scared" asked, "Is there any way I can get help without embarrassment?" No one save your parents need know you are visiting a Mental Health Clinic. Naturally you'd prefer that your parents don't know either, but usually a psychiatrist works with the whole family, not just the underage patient. And adult approval is necessary before you receive treatment, in most states.

Summing it up: if you're worried about your "normalcy" don't be afraid to express your fears. You'd be surprised how many other worry too—and how often their fears are unfounded.—HELEN

Cards Edge Phillies 5-4 the Hard Way

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Would you believe the St. Louis Cardinals could win a game in which Lou Brock was picked off in successive innings for the first time in his career, in which Joe Torre was forced out by an injury and in the opposing pitcher belted a home run?

Al Santorini believes it, even though he probably has to pinch himself to fully realize that he picked up his first major league victory since April 13, 1970.

Monday's hard-earned triumph, 5-4 over Philadelphia, was the Cardinals' first of the young season after two one-run setbacks. Elsewhere on an abbreviated major league baseball schedule, Houston whipped San Francisco 7-2, Los Angeles trounced Atlanta 8-3, Baltimore blanked the New York Yankees 4-0 and Cleveland zeroed Boston 4-0.

Santorini, the fifth St. Louis pitcher, came on in the ninth inning with the bases loaded, one out and the Cards nursing a 5-3 lead. He got a bad break when first baseman Donn Clendenon dropped pinch hitter Roger Freed's pop foul but the 24-year-old right-hander recovered to strike out Freed.

Larry Bowa's sharp single made the score 5-4 and left the bases jammed but Santorini retired Tim McCarver on a grounder to second for the final out. Santorini had a 1-3 record with San Diego in 1970, was 0-4 with the Padres and Cards last year and was tagged with the loss in the 1972 opener on Saturday.

"It's been a long time," sighed Santorini, but the victory was doubly sweet—his family came down from Union, N.J., and it was his father's birthday.

Brock, the Cards' inimitable base-stealer, was embarrassed in the first and second innings by Woodie Fryman, who picked him off both times. And Clendenon, in addition to his potentially damaging error, was run down trying to score from first base on a single by Jose Cruz in the first inning.

The Cards prevailed, despite all that adversity plus Fryman's second career home run, when Ed Crosby, Torre's replacement, greeted reliever Joe Hoerner with a leadoff single in the top of the ninth and Ted Simmons doubled him home with the tie-breaker. Simmons eventually scored what proved to be the winning run on Dal Maxvill's sacrifice fly.

Torre aggravated a strained muscle in his lower back suffered in Sunday's game against Montreal.

A funny thing happened to the San Francisco Giants on their way to a repeat of their early 1971 runaway. After trimming Houston twice and grabbing a 2-0 lead Monday night on pitcher John Cumblerland's fifth-inning single, they faltered and lost.

Doug Rader tied the score for the Astros in their half of the inning with a two-run homer and they took the lead in the sixth on run-scoring singles by Lee May and Bob Watson. May singled another run across before Rader cracked a two-run triple.

Two-run homers by Willie Davis and Manny Mota powered Los Angeles over Atlanta, which is having the pitching problems most experts predicted. Davis drove in a third run with an infield hit and Bill Singer, facing live hitters for the first time since March 12, hurled four perfect innings. He was bothered only by Darrell Evans' homer.

Brooks Robinson and winning pitcher Dave McNally rapped run-scoring doubles as Baltimore broke a scoreless game with three runs in the seventh and downed the Yankees. McNally, bidding for his fifth 20-game season, tossed a four-hitter.

Paul Blair opened the seventh with a single off Fritz Peterson and scored on Robinson's double as right fielder Rusty Torres fell down.

College Sue Pro Team

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Al Lawson, assistant coach on Florida State's college basketball team, has filed a $1 million breach of contract lawsuit against the Atlanta Hawks.

In the suit filed Monday in U.S. District Court, Lawson, 23, asked for at least $1 million in compensatory and punitive damages.

He said he signed a $16,500 contract with the pro basketball Hawks on June 10, 1971, but was released on Aug. 6, 1971 with the explanation the team had "an overabundance of forwards."

Remus Allen, Lawson's attorney, said the 6-foot-7 forward never got a chance to show his skills in training camp, which began shortly after Lawson was released.

But Allen said that the release came too late for Lawson to get a tryout with another team. He said several teams, including the Chicago Bulls, had expressed interest in Lawson previously.

The suit said that Lawson suffered "embarrassment, humiliation and other indignities" by being released before he got a chance to play. "His potential career as a basketball player in professional sports has been permanently undermined," the suit said.

Lawson played college basketball at Florida A&M, where he averaged 18.5 points per game in a four-year career.

After he failed to make it with the Hawks, Lawson was hired by Florida State.

Coach of Year

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—UCLA basketball coach John Wooden was selected Monday night as coach of the year by the All-American Basketball Coaches Clinic at a banquet hosted by Adolph Rupp of Kentucky and John Bayer, coach of the University of Nevada, Las Vegas.

Wooden, whose Bruins have won the last six NCAA titles and eight of the last nine, will have the use of a new car for the next 12 months. Nine others were under consideration for the honor. They were:

Jerry Tarkanian, Long Beach State; Dean Smith, North Carolina; Al McGuire, Marquette; Bill Gibson, Virginia; Denny Crum, Louisville; Chuck Daly, Penn; Lefty Driesell, Maryland; Bill Musselman, Minnesota; Carl Tacy, Marshall.

The clinic will conclude Wednesday after Tuesday night's East-West all-star game pitting 6-10 LaRue Martin of Loyola-Chicago against Marquette's Jim Chones. Martin was the first pick in the recent National Basketball Association draft. Chones has already signed with New York's Nets of the ABA.

Granatelli Entry Standard

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Andy Granatelli's entry in the Indianapolis 500 this year will be a standard STP Lola driven by Art Pollard, it has been announced.

Granatelli admitted Monday he had thoughts of prepping the revolutionary rotary Wankel engine for the Indy test but said "rule changes which we expected would liberalize the Wankel rotary engine size ... instead slashed the size just as was done with the turbines."

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Milwaukee Bucks and Los Angeles Lakers have each won the games they really had to win.

But tonight's match at the forum is a MUST game for both. The teams are tied 2-2 in the best-of-7 series for the National Basketball Association's Western Conference championship.

The nationally televised game starts at 10 p.m., EST. The Forum is a 17,500-seat sellout and, with Los Angeles blacked out for home television, five sites will carry closed-circuit telecast.

In Monday night's only pro basketball action, Utah moved out to a 2-0 lead in their West Division final series against Indiana by whipping the Pacers 117-109.

Willie Wise poured in 30 points for the Stars, including 11 in the third quarter, when Utah turned a one-point half-time deficit into a nine point lead. Zelmo Beaty, playing despite a broken finger, scored 23 points and hauled down 25 rebounds for the Stars.

George McGinnis led Indiana with 28 points, 21 of them in the second half.

The third game of the series will be played Wednesday night at Anderson, Ind.

The other ABA playoff series, between Virginia and the New York Nets for the East Division title, does not resume until April 24. The Squires hold a 2-0 edge.

In the NBA Eastern Conference finals, the New York Knicks hold a 2-0 edge over Boston. Game No. 3 will be played Wednesday night in Boston, and the Celtics need that one to climb back into contention.

Recapping the Bucks-Lakers series:

The Bucks blasted the Lakers in the Forum, 93-72, in the first game, but Los Angeles came back to win a thriller 135-134, also at the Forum.

Los Angeles went to Milwaukee needing at least a split of the two games there to maintain any home-court advantage. The Lakers won the third game, 108-105.

Then came Sunday's fourth contest, which Milwaukee needed to win or face a 1-3 deficit in the series. The Bucks won in a walk, 114-88.

Decision on McAdoo

BUFFALO (AP)—It may take a courtroom battle to decide whether Robert McAdoo is a Squire or a Brave.

The Buffalo Braves of the National Basketball Association announced Monday McAdoo had signed for them a "multi-year contract."

At the same time, Arnold Gardner, a lawyer for the Braves, said the club had filed in federal court an action designed to free McAdoo from a pact he made earlier with the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association.

McAdoo was the Braves' No. 1 draft pick in the recent NBA draft, even though ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph told the club McAdoo was Squire property.

Gardner said the Braves' suit contends that Virginia's contract with the 20-year-old McAdoo was "technically defective because he was a minor at the time the contract was signed."

Gardner said the club also is arguing that the player was subjected to "undue influence" when he met with Squires officials.

McAdoo has sent a letter to Squires' owner Earl Foreman "disaffirming" the ABA club's contract, Gardner added.

BBA Marathon Back to Finland

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Olavi Suomalainen, an engineering student in Helsinki, returned the Boston A.A. Marathon championship to Finland today in extending foreign domination of the 76-year-old distance run for a handful of prizes and a bowl of beef stew.

The 25-year-old Suomalainen, moving up to the marathon distance for the first time, surprised a starting field of 1,081 by winning the 26-mile, 385-yard Hopkinton-to-Boston test Monday in 2 hours, 15 minutes, 39 seconds.

His 18-second victory over the fast-closing Victor Manuel Mora of Colombia was Finland's first in 10 years. It also marked the 24th triumph by a foreigner since World War II, the only breaks in the string being Johnny Kelley's victory in 1957 and Abrose Burfoot's triumph four years ago.

Suomalainen, normally a 25-kilometer runner, charged into the lead with less than five miles to go and had enough to withstand Mora's belated challenge to win by slightly more than 100 yards.

Former Connecticut track star John Vitale set the early pace before Mexico's Jacinto Sabinal passed him after 14 miles.

Then came the hills, a couple of small ones and then famed "Heartbreak," leading up to Boston College.

Suomalainen caught up to the Mexican at the fifth checkpoint just below the college and 21.6 miles from the start. Then he gradually built his advantage as Sabinal faded and finished third in 2:16.10.

Mexico's Alfred Penazola and Pablo Garrido, each running in the BAA for the third time, finished fourth and fifth in 2:18.46 and 2:19.50, respectively. Bruce Mortensen of Rochester, N.Y., was the first American finisher, placing sixth in 2:19.59. Jeff Galloway of Tallahassee, Fla., was right behind in 2:20.3, followed by Colombia's Alvaro Mejia, the 1968 winner in 2:18.45.

Bowing to Women's Lib for the first time, the BAA conducted a special marathon for women. Nina Kuscsik, a 33-year-old mother of two from Huntington, N.Y., topped a field of nine in 3:08.58, a time which would have been good for 391st place among the men. Elaine Pedersen of San Francisco was second in 3:20.35, and Kathy Miller of Syracuse, N.Y., third in 3:29.50.

In San Antonio, Mark Thomas scattered four hits and struck out 11 in leading Midland to a 4-1 victory.

Meanwhile in El Paso Dave Speed hit a home run with one man on in the eighth inning to give Amarillo its first victory. El Paso still retained its lead in the West with a 3-1 record.

Bob Frazier had hit another homer for Amarillo in the second inning with none on. El Paso scored six runs in the first inning and two in the second, then was scoreless until the eighth.

Lee Mazzone was credited with his first victory of the season. The losing pitcher was Dave Allen.

LR Teachers, Board Apart on Contract

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mediators are going to be called in to try to settle the salary contract dispute between the Little Rock Classroom Teachers Association and the Little Rock School Board.

The CTA sent a letter to the school board April 14 saying that the two sides were "only about $600,000 apart." Copies of the letter were sent Monday to all teachers in the district.

In a cover letter, Mrs. Sammie Tollette, CTA president, and W. Jack Godbey, chairman of the CTA negotiating committee, said that "the negotiation process is not working well this year."

The CTA negotiating committee met Monday with the negotiators from the school board and Dr. Paul Fair, a school board negotiator, said afterward that the CTA requested the mediators. He said the negotiators will meet Thursday to decide who the mediators will be.

The CTA also scheduled a news conference for 10 a.m. today at the Arkansas Education Auditorium.

Fair said the board has offered a $300 raise in the base pay of all teachers. He said the board also had offered to increase pay for seniority. He said the board's offer would raise the salary for a first-year teacher from $6,000 to $6,300 with experienced teachers receiving even larger raises. Fair said the board's negotiators had proposed a total salary expenditure for teachers of $9,307,000 for the 1972-73 school year. He would not say if the CTA request totaled $600,000 more.

Mrs. Tollette and Godbey refused to comment on the situation Monday night.

$529,700 Contract for Renovation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $529,700 contract has been authorized for renovation and expansion of the Blytheville Air Force Base commissary, the office of Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., said Monday.

The announcement said the contracting company will be Ben White & Sons of Blytheville.

Charges of first-degree murder and assault with intent to kill were filed Monday against B. J. Bearden, 46, of Pine Bluff, according to Pros. Atty. Joe Holmes of Pine Bluff.

Bearden was charged with murder in the death of his 63-year-old wife. Coroner Havis Hester said Mrs. Bearden died of multiple internal injuries Sunday. He said cause of death would not be known until after an autopsy in Little Rock.

Bearden was charged with assault after Shirley Ball, 34, was allegedly beaten at the Bearden home Sunday.

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Indiscriminate feeding of antibiotics to livestock is creating problems for human consumers of the meat, a University of Illinois scientist says.

Swine, cattle, poultry and sheep receive antibiotics in their food as well as for therapy for disease.

Producers of livestock compare the antibiotic food to insurance, Dr. William G. Huber, professor of pharmacology at the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine, said in an interview.

"But the actual benefit is one big question mark," he added.

Huber was a member of a task force for the Food and Drug Administration which studied drugs in animal feed and made recommendations for restrictions on their use.

About 80 per cent of all animals eaten have been given antibiotics, he said, and almost 100 per cent of swine receive the drugs.

Meat inspection is under the jurisdiction of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which does not test for antibiotic or antibacterial drugs in meat, except visually, Huber said. If an area of discoloration is present, it will be cut out or the meat rejected, but more sophisticated methods are needed, he said.

The USDA has sampled meat from across the country and concluded that antibiotics fed to livestock presents no problem. The meat was shipped to Beltsville, Md., and had been slaughtered 10 to 21 days before the tests, Huber said.

During such a period some antibiotics in tissues will lose their antibacterial activity, but the residues can still affect the human consumer, the pharmacologist said.

The University of Illinois has tested carcasses of 8,000 to 9-

000 animals for drugs, which is more than the USDA has tested, Huber said.

Tests at the university were done two to four days after slaughtered and significant percentages of the meat were found to contain the drugs.

Some antibiotics are excreted rapidly by the animals.

Huber said 90 to 95 per cent of the problem of drug residues in animals results from the failure of growers to feed the animals on food free of antibiotics for a sufficient length of time before they are marketed.

Challenges Candidates

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Len Blaylock pledged here Monday night to name more youths to state boards and commissions.

Blaylock challenged the other candidates to promise greater involvement of youth.

Blaylock said in a speech at Arkansas Tech that the government was controlled by middle-aged people, excluding the young voters and the senior citizens.

He said one reason why young voters were apathetic was because they were not interested in a candidate who was only looking for voters and for somebody to put up campaign funds.

Blaylock, who was Welfare commissioner under ex-Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, said he would appoint a proportionate number of young persons to state boards and commissions in relation to the number of young voters in the state.

"I am not suggesting that an 18-year-old should serve on the state Highway Commission," Blaylock said, "but why shouldn't a young adult serve on the cosmetology board, instead of a legislator's wife."

Ford Recalls Defective Autos

DETROIT (AP) — A defect which might allow rear wheels to fall off has forced Ford Motor Co. to recall 396,000 1972 Ford Torinos and Mercury Montegos for modification of their rear axle assemblies.

Monday's recall involved about 323,000 Torinos and nearly 73,000 Montegos, virtually the entire model run for both intermediate-sized cars.

Gordon H. Robertson, service engineering manager for Ford's Customer Service Division, said there have been reports of deteriorating rear axle bearings due to several factors.

He said that in extreme cases, the condition could cause the rear axle to become detached.

However, a Ford spokesman said the firm has only five reported cases where Torinos or Montegos lost rear wheels, while driving.

No case of personal injury due to lost rear wheels have been confirmed, Ford reported, although one driver is claiming a whiplash injury.

One to Go for Quarry

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One down and two to go for heavyweight Jerry Quarry as he attempts to fight his way back to the top contender's post of boxing.

The Bellflower Bomber used a devastating left hook to pound Argentina's Eduardo Corletti into submission in less than one round Monday night.

The end came at 2:58 of the first stanza when Corletti, weighing 202, slipped to the canvas for the second time.

The first knockdown also came from a left-right combination that rocked the visitor and provided Quarry with victory No. 42 against five defeats and four draws. He weighed in, however, at an overweight 203½.

His next fight will be May 9 in London against Larry Middleton and then he has a June 26 Las Vegas date with Muhammad Ali.

Corletti, 32-10-5, was counted out without numbers when Dick Young stopped the scheduled 10-round affair with two seconds left. Quarry, the former South American champ was hitting the deck. The bell rang. Corletti arose and wandered about the ring until he was told the fight was over.

Bryant Conducts Investigation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Secretary of State Kelly Bryant has been asked to conduct an investigation into whether Johnny Boatright, a Democratic candidate for state representative from District 16, lives in the district.

The district includes Scott County and a portion of Sebastian County.

Boatright and Jim Lassiter are the only candidates for the position. Lassiter wrote a letter to Bryant contending that Boatright lives outside the district.

Candidate Blasts Gov. Bumpers

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, reiterated his charges here Monday that Gov. Dale Bumpers has no communication with elected county officials and no rapport with the legislature.

The state senator said in an interview that in 1970 an advertising agency "packaged this man and sold him like a piece of merchandise and made him governor, indicating they could have actually packaged a phony name and made him governor."

Hurst also repeated his promise to work against the proposed merger of Arkansas AM&N College at Pine Bluff with the University of Arkansas.

Black Opposition Leaves Methodists Uncertain

By GOERGE W. CORNELL, AP Religion Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An upsurge of opposition by black members and white members of the United Methodists left a cloud of uncertainty today over a major church reorganization plan. They said it would overly centralize authority.

"It's an invitation to disaster," Franklin Blackstone, a Zelnople, Pa., lawyer, told the church's government convention. He called the plan "bogus democracy," giving the appearance of representative control but in effect concentrating power in national staffs. The plan, four years in development, was presented Monday at an opening business session of the two-week convention and was described as a central issue before it.

Blacks coupled their opposition to it with an appeal for the church to devote attention first to more urgent problems such as racism and war, and to strengthening the poor, blacks, and the young and women in the church and in society.

The Rev. Cain Felder of Atlanta, a leader of a black caucus, said the plan appears "hell-bent on perpetuating the status quo" and "so centralizing the bureaucracy" as to throttle creative innovations.

He calmed a "negative current" is at work in the church and the nation to minimize efforts to uplift the downtrodden.

A white woman, Mrs. Thomas Devaux of Greensburg, Pa., also criticized the focus on organizational mechanics, saying this was "the power of Satan to keep the church from bringing souls into the Kingdom of God."

About 1,700 delegates, half clergy and half laity, are here from across the country as representatives of the 10.5 million-member denomination, second largest in protestantism.

The Rev. Dr. Dow Kirkpatrick of Evanston, Ill., chairman of the commission that drew up the plan, said it provided "checks and balances" through representative elections to a central council.

The council would have supervisory control over various national agencies, many of which would be combined.

Dr. Kirkpatrick said the plan would not give any power to the central council that does not now exist in scattered forms among the various agencies.

At present, he said, this power is "exercised invisibly and unresponsively," but the plan would concentrate the authority in an elected council that would be plainly accountable.

However, few others than the plan's drafters defended it and it was referred without vote to committees for review.

The attack on it was launched by one of the church's leading theologians, the Rev. Dr. Albert Outler of Dallas, who said it would make Methodism "the most centralized structure in Christendom."

"The basic model is a pyramid of power and programs coming down from above," he said, adding that this "no longer is a viable mode of institution organization in the modern world."

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Charles D. Ward of Conway said Monday that gubernatorial candidate Mack Harbour was trying to benefit politically by charging that Ward's selection as Democratic national committeeman was a political payoff.

Ward was unanimously named national committeeman Monday morning by the Democratic State Committee over the objections of Harbour, one of four opponents of Gov. Dale Bumpers in the May 30 primary.

Before the vote, Harbour told the committee that Bumpers was supporting Ward for the job as a "political payoff" on a 1970 commitment.

Ward said Harbour's allegations were untrue.

"I think Mr. Harbour is making these charges to try to get some political mileage out of my election," said Ward, 32, a school bus manufacturer.

Harbour, a Paragould hospital administrator, implied that Bumpers was hand-picking Ward "to speak for him and represent him in his campaign for re-election."

Although Ward is national coordinator for the presidential campaign of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., Harbour said he suspected Mills did not want Ward as national committeeman. He suggested Mills be allowed to designate the national committeeman to act as his spokesman at the Democratic National Convention and "carry his banner in his campaign" for the presidency.

Ward said Mills "has assured me that he would be perfectly happy with me as national committeeman."

The State Committee picked him because "I personally called as many committeemen as possible—I know many of them—and asked for and received their support," Ward said.

On Harbour's allegation of a payoff, Ward said he had told Bumpers after the 1970 elections that he was interested in the national committeeman's position and that if the job ever became vacant "I certainly would appreciate his support."

Ward was selected to fill the unexpired term of Tom Harper of Fort Smith, who recently resigned, saying that he could not devote enough time to the job because of the demands of his law practice. Ward will serve until after the national convention. He said he intended to

Students Planning Protests to War

By SAM DOBBINS
Associated Press Writer

The call for campus strikes to protest the bombing of North Vietnam escalated today after hundreds of college students took to the streets to protest continued U.S. involvement in Indochina.

"Not since the Cambodian invasion in 1970 has the Nixon government's aggression in Asia so urgently demanded protest from the American people," said an editorial planned for publication today by the Harvard Crimson and seven other Ivy League newspapers.

They called in the joint editorial for a "one-day moratorium on business as usual Friday."

In addition they urged "all Americans to join in massive demonstrations of protest in New York, Los Angeles, and San Francisco this Saturday or to engage in some other effective form of protest."

The National Student Association also has urged the nation's 50 leading universities to strike and said it was planning mass mailings to its 515 member colleges to heed the call.

Even as the call was going out demonstrations were being reported.

An estimated 2,000 Columbia University students shouting protests against the war flooded into an intersection along New York City's upper Broadway and demanded that the school be closed.

The demonstrators waved banners "Stop the bombing" and passed out leaflets reading "It's happening again" before moving onto the campus for a rally.

Some of the demonstrators staged a sitdown at Broadway and 116th Street.

Police moved in to disperse the crowd and the only trouble reported was when a group of students hemmed in a press car, smashed the windshield and battered it in its sides.

On the West Coast, 69 persons were arrested and a Navy station wagon was set ablaze during demonstrations at the federal building in San Francisco, the Alameda Naval Air Station and Stanford University.

Police arrested 41 persons Monday in Alameda after they failed to obey a command to disperse.

Twenty-eight persons were arrested in San Francisco where the station wagon was put to the torch.

At Stanford Monday night, about 450 persons listened peacefully to a campus antiwar meeting. Shortly after it ended about 250 young people marched across campus and shattered windows in six buildings with rocks.

In Madison, Wis., student leaders met Monday night and decided to distribute leaflets today opposing the war. Their action came after an estimated 3,000 students rallied at the University of Wisconsin's Bascom Hill. Protesters peppered a Reserve Officer Training Corps building, policemen and police cars during the three-hour demonstration and four persons were arrested before the crowd dispersed.

Strike in Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO (AP) — Uruguayan labor leaders went ahead with plans for a 14-hour general strike today despite the upsurge in the government's war on leftist Tupamaro guerrillas, in which at least 19 persons have been killed since Friday.

Union leaders acted in the face of a 30-day suspension of all constitutional rights under a state of internal war proclaimed last weekend.

Despite the explosive situation, it appeared the government might permit the strike, which labor leaders scheduled more than two weeks ago to back demands for a 40 per cent pay raise, double the amount approved by the government.

Officials of the Communist-controlled National Workers Convention refused to postpone the strike, saying it had been authorized by the interior minister.

The strike plan called for factory workers to leave their jobs at midmorning and make house-to-house visits seeking support. Office and shop workers planned afternoon rallies in front of the congress.

Transport and municipal workers and schoolteachers all were to stop work. The strike was to end at midnight.

President Juan M. Bordaberry gave Communist party leaders a report on the gunfight at a party district office Monday in which at least seven persons were killed.

The Communist Party has been legal for years, takes a pro-Soviet line and disapproves of terrorist violence.

A government communique on the battle Monday listed seven civilians slain in the fight and said one army officer was gravely wounded, but it gave no details. Eyewitnesses had reported nine persons were killed, including the officer.

Severe local censorship, enforced under the war declaration, prohibited local newspapers and radio from reporting the battle.

The Tupamaros on Friday assassinated a former government official and three security agents in daylight ambushes. Within the next few hours, eight persons identified as Tupamaros were killed in gunfights with police and a dozen were captured.

Report Filed by Arkla Gas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A new report was filed Monday with the state Public Service Commission by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., showing the firm's cost of serving its industrial customers last year.

The PSC last year began a cost of study on the gas utility to help it determine a proper rate scheduled, and Arkla filed a lengthy report Dec. 5. The PSC ruled Feb. 2 that Arkla had not complied with its request for cost figures and instructed the utility to make a new financial report based on a method dictated by the PSC. The new figures also are based on the company's experience in 1971. The December report was based on 1970.

Arkla seeks approval of a rate of 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas from its large industrial customers. The rate has been in effect on an emergency basis.

The company's December report said the cost of furnishing gas to industrial customers was 38.1 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. Under the method the PSC said Arkla should use, the average cost was 30.8 cents.

The earlier report showed a deficiency in revenues, based on 1970 sales and costs, of 16.78 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The second report showed a deficiency of 14.58 cents.

Boyett Resigns, Brewer Appointed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Edward H. Boyett has resigned from the state Transportation Commission and Gov. Dale Bumpers is to appoint Garry L. Brewer to fill Boyett's term that expires next year, it was reported Monday.

Boyett will become hearing examiner for the federal Social Security Administration at Hazard, Ky. Brewer is the governor's aid on prison and parole matters. The change will take effect May 1.

2 Killed in Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — British troops killed two guerrilla snipers in an all-day battle in Belfast Monday, then fought for another two hours during the night. The death toll in Northern Ireland's 32 months of communal warfare rose to at least 308.

There was a possibility of more violence today at the funeral of Joseph McCann, the Irish Republican Army leader slain by British troops Saturday. His death triggered a weekend of IRA attacks; and three soldiers have been killed in reprisal.

During Monday's battle, hundreds of teen-agers hurled stones and gasoline bombs at the troops, trying to lure them out of their armored cars so guerrillas could pick them off. In addition to the two guerrillas killed, three soldiers, a 9-year-old boy playing in that area and three snipers were wounded.

The IRA gunmen poured a hail of machine gun and small arms fire at army positions and the troops replied with their high velocity rifles.

Paratroopers spreadeagled on the sidewalks kept up constant fire at the IRA men on rooftops. Women fled the area, many in tears or screaming. The army at one point commandeered a house and evacuated the occupants to give it a better line of fire.

Another shootout began after midnight when troops moved in to demolish a makeshift street barricade. The army said the troops came under fire from nearby apartment buildings and houses, and the soldiers returned the fire.

The army said four of the guerrillas were dragged from the scene, but it was not known if any were dead.

Two bombs shook Belfast during the evening. One destroyed a cafe in the center of the city, slightly wounding five persons. The other badly damaged a beauty parlor, severely injuring another civilian.

Youths also hurled three small gelignite bombs into a bus depot, wrecking one bus and damaging another.

In Londonderry, guerrillas planted a 500-pound gelignite bomb next to an army post.

President to Meet Chinese Players

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon meets Communist China's peerless table tennis team at the White House today in the highlight of a 14-day "ice-breaker mission" a year after the American team visited Peking.

The meeting in the White House Rose Garden reciprocates Premier Chou En-lai's welcome to the Americans in Peking's Forbidden City last year. Officials here consider it another step in careful efforts by both countries to warm up their relations.

Tricia Nixon Cox, the President's elder daughter, accompanied by Secretary of State and Mrs. William P. Rogers, turned out at the nearby University of Maryland Cole Field House Monday night to see the Chinese defeat the American table tennis team by a lopsided 10 matches to 2.

But the Chinese delegation leader, Chuang Tse-tung, said: "Victory and defeat are temporary, but friendships are permanent. What we are trying to do is to develop friendship, although we will compete our hardest."

University of Michigan Prof. Alexander Eckstein, head of the National Committee on U.S.-China Relations which is cosponsoring the Chinese team here, predicted that if the exhibition tour of the Chinese team "continues to go as well as it has thus far, it will be extremely significant. This is an ice-breaker mission for them."

"The Chinese did not know how they would be received, and they are finding that they are being received very warmly."

The exhibition matches, however, were played against the backdrop of chanting demonstrators.

There were antiwar hecklers who booed Rogers and taunted Tricia by singing "Tricia watches ping pong while her father bombs Haiphong." They unfurled a large Viet Cong flag while they sang.

Another group erupted with shouts of "Down with Mao," raised Nationalist Chinese flags called upon the Chinese players to defect.

Dear Mr. Washburn:

Bobby Burgess, Cissy King and all the members of our Musical Family join me in expressing thanks for the wonderful coverage you gave our Shreveport concert.

I too was impressed by the turn-out of young people, and I am glad you made note of it. I particularly appreciate your comment about America and its acceptance of our brand of entertainment.

With warmest personal regards.

Chicago Traffic Jams

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A recent study showed the Chicago driver sits in traffic jams longer than motorists of any other city.

Besides the usual reason—repairs, accidents and bad weather—there are a number of phenomena that exist with increasing irritation on all expressways.

They include the gaper's block. This phenomenon occurs with frustrating frequency in Chicago. It usually occurs when the driver is already late for work or dinner but the lanes are open and traffic is zipping right along.

Suddenly, the lines begin to slow. The weather is perfect, the motorist reasons, and the road repairs were completed last year. It must be a bad accident or a temporary delay.

A half-hour and a quarter-mile later, the motorist reaches a point where two cars with nicked fenders are parked on the apron. A police car is behind them and the blue light is attracting gapers.

Sometimes, there is nothing. A quick glance at the traffic piling up in the other direction lets the driver know that the fender-bender occurred in the opposite lanes.

Then there is the crawling cop. The crawling cop usually drives in the center lane at 45 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

Only bold motorists positive their speedometers are accurate dare pass the patrol. For everyone who passes, three hesitate. Before long the lanes are backed up and somewhere a mile back some driver is wondering how the traffic can be so bad at 10 p.m.

Finally, the crawling cop slips into an exit ramp and those bringing up the rear at 30 miles an hour never know why they were a half-hour late getting home.

Finally, there is the exact change toll booth dilemma. There is first of all the feeling of worthlessness that overwhelms the driver who pulls up to the exact change booth and discovers he has no exact change. This leads to his sheepish appearance in front of a line of glowing chrome grills as he walks across to the manned booths.

Secondly, there is the driver

REPHAN'S

The "Cates Gang" will appear at the Class of '72 Senior Dance to be held Friday, April 21 at the Armory, 8 p.m.

The "Cates Gang" is best known for their recording "We All Got to Help Each Other" on Metromedia records. The "Cates Gang" sing with incredible honesty, purity, and soul. The lyrics are really very simple phrases, but when put together, they drive home a powerful message. They sing songs of love and emotion, brotherhood and loneliness.

The "Gang" consists of the Cate brothers, Ernie and Gene, Bill Wright and Terry Cagle who write their own songs and make their own arrangements. Thus all their material is original.

The Cate brothers are from Springdale, Arkansas and started performing in northwest Arkansas. The group is brought to Hope by Consolidated Talent Corporation of Little Rock.

The Senior Class was able to obtain this outstanding talent only because they happened to have an open date in April.

RICHARD ALLEE

A 7th grade student, Richard Allee of Saratoga Junior High, was a winner in the National Library Week poster contest.

MICKIE BUSHHOLZER

One winner in the National Library Week poster contest was Mickie Buchholzer, 3rd grade student at Brookwood Elementary, Hope.

Hempstead County Library sponsored a poster contest as one of its activities in celebration of National Library Week, April 16-22. All students in the county were invited to participate and enter posters. The contest was divided into four divisions - Grades 1-3; Grades 4-6; Grades 7-8 and Grades 9-12. Posters were judged for originality, artistic ability and neatness. The winner in each division won a book of his choice.

Results of the judging are as follows:

Grades 1-3 Winner - Mickie Buchholzer, third grade, Brookwood Elementary School. Honorable mention - Chris Kawakami, third grade, Brookwood Elementary School.

Grades 4-6 Winner - Stan Webb, fourth grade, Saratoga Elementary School. Honorable mention - Rafael Cheatham, fourth grade, Saratoga Elementary School and Donna Ratliffe, sixth grade, Saratoga Elementary School.

Grades 7-8 Winner - Richard Allee, seventh grade, Saratoga Public School. Honorable mention - Cheryl Cheatham, seventh grade, Saratoga Public School.

Grades 9-12 Winner - Janice Fontaine, twelfth grade, Saratoga Public School. Honorable mention - Kathie Staggars, eleventh grade, Saratoga Public School.

All winning posters and honorable mention posters will be on display in Hope stores during the week of April 16-22. Other posters entered in the contest will be on display at the Hempstead County Library.

East was one of those real dangerous players who think they are experts while they do everything wrong.

His choice of a spade instead of club bid is a case in point. This time it should have worked out for him, because it got his opponents to three in trump and, when West placed the queen of clubs on the table, South could count to just eight tricks and no further.

South is the first club and rattled off six diamond tricks and East had to make five discards. The first four were rather easy. He chucked two spades, a heart and a club.

The fifth caused him a problem and he solved it incorrectly. He jettisoned the queen of spades.

Now South knocked out the spade ace. The defense cashed three clubs and South made the last two tricks and his contract.

"I just couldn't play you for four clubs," said East to his unfortunate partner. "I had five myself."

We can't print his partner's reply, but we feel that it was justified this time. The point is that East was not going to beat the hand unless his partner held four clubs.

A—Pass. You aren't happy about the contract, but your partner is almost certain to show up with four diamonds and you may be in the best spot after all. In any event, don't try to find a better landing place.

Instead of raising to two diamonds, your partner has bid one heart. What do you do now?

Supports Dam Construction

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP) — Jack G. Coleman of McGehee, a Democratic candidate for 4th District congressman, said here Monday night that he had pledged his support for the construction of a dam on Dorcheat Bayou near here.

Coleman, 27, toured the bayou area Monday.

"I am convinced that a need exists to develop a dependable water source for municipal and industrial use," Coleman said.

He said 70 million gallons of water per day would be required to develop the basin's resources for the next 50 years.

He said a balance could be achieved between proponents of the dam and ecologists who oppose the project.

Coleman said his staff had interviewed 500 persons in Magnolia, Waldo, Lewisville, Stamps, El Dorado, Camden, Stephens and McNeil about the project. Coleman said his survey showed that 62 per cent were in favor of construction, 11 per cent against and 27 per cent undecided.

Plane Crash Kills Sixty

ADDIS ABABA (AP) — An East African Airways VC10 crashed and burned today as it was taking off for Rome and London, and more than 60 of the 106 persons on board were reported killed.

Many of the passengers were believed to be British.

Eyewitnesses said at least 34 survivors were picked up.

The plane had just cleared the runway when it crashed, exploded and burst into flames alongside a small hill at the end of the runway.

Decision Affirmed

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — By a 4-1 vote Monday the Arkansas State University Board of Trustees affirmed the administration's decision not to renew the contract of Dr. Bill Stroud, an assistant professor of philosophy at ASU.

Stroud said afterward that he had fought the action all the way, but that he was not bitter. He said he planned no further appeal. His contract expires at the end of this semester.

Stroud had appealed to the board for renewal after ASU President Dr. Carl Reng and Dean O. P. James said they would not renew it.

A petition with the names of 1,000 ASU students supporting Stroud was presented to the board last Friday.

This was the third time in as many years that Stroud has appeared before the board seeking to have his contract renewed. The board renewed it two previous times against the wishes of Reng.

The motion not to renew was made by Phil Hout of Jonesboro, who was appointed by Gov. Dale Bumpers. Elijah Coleman of Pine Bluff was the only dissenter.

Stroud said grounds used against him was that he was not qualified to teach philosophy. However, he said he had better credentials now than when he was hired. He said the administration had looked negatively upon his community activities because he was on the Council on Human Relations in Jonesboro.

"I went through all the procedural channels," Stroud said after the board's action. "I'm not a radical revolutionist. I don't believe in violence. I accept the defeat completely."

The board also voted to extend the contract of Reng until he reaches retirement age. The extension will be for three years, when Reng will be 65 years old. His present contract expires June 30.

The board said it would seek a successor to Reng before his contract expires.

Often Missed Kidney Problem

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Please give me as much information as possible about polycystic kidney disease. Is there a diet that might possibly arrest the progress of the disease? Since high blood pressure and slight anemia have accompanied, or even been occasioned by, polycystic disease, is it alarming to have the pressure high and then down to 190, perhaps within minutes?

At what point in the progress of the disease must a transplant be advised? Can the disease be fatal in the age years around 57 and 60? My physician assumes that I have all these answers, but I don't have, so please help me out.

Dear Reader—Polycystic kidney disease originates with birth. Sometimes it is first noted in children. In other cases, it is first noted in adult life, as late as 50 years of age. Sometimes it is not diagnosed until after death or is found accidentally on X ray examinations.

The disease is a progressive dilation of the little tubules in the kidney that collect urine and drain to the outlet of the kidney to the urinary system. Because these tubules become partially blocked and the kidney keeps on forming urine, the blocked tubules become cysts. Thus, the kidneys enlarge and become large, cystic masses. Sometimes painless bleeding occurs.

Because of the kidney involvement, high blood pressure may also develop. Blood pressure can fluctuate a great deal, so many readings are necessary to determine if high blood pressure is present or not.

It is impossible to say how rapidly the problem will progress in any individual. Some people live with this problem for years without difficulties. Others have a more rapid deterioration of kidney function.

Medicines are used to help control the blood pressure and prevent complications, but, as kidney failure develops, the use of an artificial kidney, at least intermittently, is sometimes needed and eventually, if kidney function gets bad enough, a kidney transplant should be considered.

If the kidneys are able to clear the waste products from the body's metabolism and function reasonably well, then, of course, it is usually premature to use either the artificial kidney or transplant. So, your doctor will have to determine this on the basis of chemical tests and your general physical condition. But he does have means of determining how well your kidneys are functioning.

The availability of these forms of treatment is an example of some of the progress that has been made in medicine. It has only been a few short years ago that neither the artificial kidney nor kidney transplants could be considered and, when the kidneys of an individual with this problem deteriorated to the point where they could no longer function, there really wasn't anything that could be offered. Now, in many instances, there is.

War Eagle Fair, Antique Show Scheduled in April

By FAUNE CONNER
Travel Writer
Department of Parks and Tourism

For everyone who enjoys antiques revealed in their full charm and natural setting, the "Back-In-The-Hills" Antique Show and Collectors Fair April 28, 29 and 30 at War Eagle, Ark. is the place to go.

This is the tenth year for the three-day fair sponsored by the Ozarks Arts and Crafts Fair Association, and it is held as a tribute to the rich cultural heritage of the Ozark Mountains.

This far from typical antique fair has the added attractions of being located in a beautiful valley that is almost entirely surrounded by a bending, twisting river and is held at a time of year when the freshness of spring runs rampant through the hills.

It doesn't take long for people to sense the atmosphere of rustic serenity so prevalent in the area when they travel the winding road through the wooded hills to historic War Eagle Mills Farm where the show is located. The surrounding ravines and hollows, alive with colorful blooming dogwood and redbud, plus the lush green country meadows, immediately give visitors a feel of the past and the realization that this is how most of our nation used to be.

Within 25 miles of all major cities in northwest Arkansas, the scenic War Eagle Farm can be easily reached by taking Arkansas Highway 68 from Springdale until it intersects with Arkansas Highway 303, the graded gravel road which leads to the farm.

Upon arriving at the 250-acre farm, visitors will find plenty of free parking near the show which is displayed in a rustic, primitive-type building with a sawdust floor situated in the middle of a pasture. An admission of 75 cents is charged, but the fascinating hours spent viewing the thousands of antiques contained in the long building make the price seem well worth it.

This year, 44 booths will be set up inside the building by reputable antique dealers and collectors from throughout the United States. This fair is a favorite among antique experts because its ideal rural setting attracts more people than the larger shows in big cities.

Scouting the countrysides and flea markets year 'round for relics of the past, these dealers are knowledgeable in their field and gladly engage in friendly shop talk with the buyers and visitors who swarm their booths when the fair opens at 9 A.M., eagerly searching for choice items.

And, in this year's vast display, there will certainly be many choice items. Most of the booths will be miscellaneous in nature and will offer such antiques as glassware and china pieces, guns and knives, old and rare coins, primitive wooden tools, old-fashioned toys such as beautiful china dolls, handmade quilts and coverlets, clocks, brass and copper objects and old paintings.

Furniture is always in great demand at an antique show and dealers will have plenty on hand this year, along with many different types of lamps and trunks. For those who collect paper items, some of the booths will specialize in old postcards, valentines, photographs and scrapbooks.

Rare books, bottles, jewelry—the list is almost endless—but these early objects from homes a century ago will be for sale to those who appreciate the way of life in the past.

Many of those who come to the antique show stay in nearby motels or camp at beautiful Beaver Lake which has an abundance of well-maintained facilities and recreational activities for tourists. For the families who make the scenic drive to the farm part of a pleasant country outing, a refreshment stand will be located on the fairgrounds with plenty of food and drink.

After touring the absorbing antique displays, visitors are met with an added treat of exploring War Eagle Mills Farm itself which has played a prominent role in the history of northwest Arkansas since it was established in 1832. At that time, a pioneer named Sylvanus Blackburn settled in the beautiful river valley and built an impressive two-story log cabin which is still standing across the road from the fair building.

The Blackburn house has since been encased with white weather boarding, but the immense logs used to build the cabin and the high ceiling beams are still left exposed inside in their original decor. The attractive columned house has an upper and lower porch and has had many uses during its 140 year history.

A historical marker in front of the antebellum home cites the role it played during the Civil War as headquarters for both the Confederate and Union armies at various times. The house was also used as a summer resort and as a hotel for drummers, men who traveled by horse and buggy calling on country general stores to sell them goods.

Alongside the Blackburn house flows a swift mountain stream known as the War Eagle River, the former source of power for the lumber and gristmills Blackburn operated years ago. Although the mills have been destroyed by fire and floods leaving only the foundation, the dam Blackburn built across the river in 1838 still stands.

The winding river flows down the steep hillsides also bringing with it plenty of good fish, and people can be seen daily catching limits of bream, crappie and channel cat. In fact, lots of people prefer to fish off the old arched bridge that stands over the stream near the fairgrounds. The bridge, itself, is an antique with its rattling wood floor and supporting stone pillars and is one of the few of its kind remaining in the state.

Surrounding with history, the natural beauty of the terrain and the material possessions of generations long gone, it is easy to understand why so many people who come to the "Back-

In-The-Hills" Antique Show a Collectors Fair leave with the inescapable feeling of having stepped back into the past for a day.

Missouri Now Included

JEFFERSON CITY, (AP) — The entire state of Missouri now is a part of Ozarks Regional Commission. Gov. Warren E. Hearnes Monday.

Missouri did have only counties in the economic development region. Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas also counties in the region.

Those three states have cussed a request that their tire states be included in region but have not made mal application, Hearnes. However, Arkansas Gov. Bumpers has said he will
